THE POOR MAN'S SUGAR-BOWL

THE EVENING WORLD shows to-day the efect of the Sugar Trust upon the tables of the poor. An increase of a cent and a half a pound in the price of sugar has cut down the consumption of this universal necessity, Upon the average annual consumption of sugar in this city the Trust would extort $1,170,000 a year from the people. In the whole country its added profits would exceed $46,000,000.

There is a swift remedy for this abuse : Put refined sugar on the free list.

THE TAXES TO GO. Sound views of taxation are spreading rapidly, even in Monopolyvania. At a great tariff reform meeting in Philo delphia last night, it was resolved: 1. That the existing duties upon raw materials which are to be used in manufactures should be

4. That the duties moon, the articles need or one sumed by those who are least able to bear the bur den of taxation should be reduced.

President ARTHUB's urgent recommendation of tariff reform was recalled for the instruction of the Republicans, and President CLEVELAND's message was cited and indorsed for the guidance of the Democrats.

The war tariff must be clipped.

OF COURSE THEY LIKE IT.

The Industrial Education Association has discovered that boys and girls like manual

Over two thousand pupils presented themselves in response to the Association's invitation to school children wishing instruction in drawing, clay modelling, wood-work, sewing and cooking, and 1,200 are now being taught.

It is "better than play" for the children for it interests, incites and diverts them all at once. In addition to this, it supplies a lack of the public schools in teaching the pupils something that will help them to get a living when thrown upon their own resources, as nineteen out of twenty must be. The Association is giving a valuable pointer to the Board of Education.

JERSEY INJUSTICE.

The Guttenburg races are to be run to-day, "blizzard or no blizzard."

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals finds no cause for action in these unnnatural exhibitions. Let some of its members try to run for ten blocks in such wind and weather as we are now having, and their lungs will tell them another story.

Even horses hardened to racing should not be exposed to spurting for "sport" in blizzard weather.

Chicago gives work to its unemployed by hiring them to keep the sidewalks clean, under the direction of an organized charity. This is double back-action benevolence-it helps the poor and it gives the city a good footing.

The music-loving poor of the city will be cheered by the news that there is to be another season of German opera. They can secure a box for $3,200 for the season, or single seats for $4.

Will Old Man Dana never learn that an editor who "cannot lie with plausibility nor tell the truth with discretion" ought to abdicate in favor of the office cat?

The eclipse of the moon will be over at little after 6 o'clock this afternoon. The eclipse of the Sun (mortgaged) will go right on to permanency.

JOHN SULLIVAN is still fighting with true Bostonese ability with tongue and pen in England. Nobody seems disposed to accommodate the champion at fisticuffs.

If Coar Conners won't arbitrate, he may be called on to abdicate.

CHAT WITH POLITICIANS.

Ex-Excise Commissioner Nicholas Haughton denies that he has resigned from Irving Hall. He says that he will remain a member, but will not pose as the Big Indian of the machine. Ex-Senator Francis M. Bixby is now the recognized Chief the Irving Hall Tuscarorss. He is opening the doors of the tence to men who were formerly identified with the Citizens' party, It is whispered around political resorts that Timothy J. Campbell is not anxious for another re-nomination if he is to have a hot fight to be returned to Congress. If this be true, S. S. Cox may again represent his old district. Louis Steckler, brother of Justice Steckler and Charles Steckier, is spending the winter in Florida.

A year ago he was enjoying the baimy air of Southern California. The New Amsterdam Club membership is on the increase. Tammany Hall has no central social political club, but each district has an organization and headquarters of its own. The movement to oust John J. O'Brien from the Sureau of Elections has gone astray. () Brien has affered a reward for its recovery, dead or alive.

Maurice B. Flynn keeps aloof from the haunts that once upon a time knew him well.

The late C. C. B. Walker was well known in New York. He was of a jovial disposition. The chiefs of Tammany Hall and the County Democracy al ways enjoyed his company and his yarns.

John Kelly, the eight-year-old son of the late eader of Tammany Hall, is a promising lad. He is the image of his father and he already shows the possession of many of his traits.

WORLDLINGS.

Two young Mass chusetts women have gone out liuffalo with the intention of embarking in the profession of dentistry.

Nearly $350,000 has been spent in the City of Mexico this season in fitting up the six rings in which buil-fights are held. Of these the most elaborate is the Colon ring, on which $100,000 was expended. The Pa-eo and S. Rafael, which cost $103,000, have already earned the amount invested.

Congressman " Archie" Bliss, of Brooklyn, is one of the handsomest men in the House. He is nore than six feet tall, with a fine physique and a flowing beard. He owns the finest team in Washington, and has the reputation of picking out more rinners at the Ivy City races than the Kentuckians hemselves.

The first private stock broker's wire between New York and Chicago was put up in 1881, and a few years years later there were fifteen such lines in operation between the two cities at an annual expense of $450,000. The number of these wires has now been reduced to five, although the yearly rental is only half what it was.

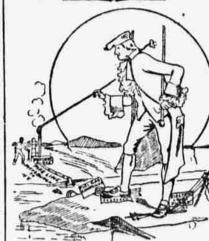

Judge Cook, of Jacksonville, Ala., recently bought from the State for $20 as a speculation forty acres of land on which the taxes had become de inquent. On looking up the site of the land be found to his great astonishment that it lay within the corporate limits of the town of Anuston and was worth $10,000, at a low valuation.

A young girl at Keokuk, Is., stumbled and fell against the iron railing on the bridge one cold morning recently, and when she attempted to rise found that her tongue had frozen fast to the iron. She was forced to remain in that position until ome passers-by released her. Her tongue was badly lacerated by her efforts to free it from the

The sales of California wines in Chicago last rear amounted to $500,000, as against $100,000 hree years ago. A correspondent writing from that city alleges that there are thousands on thousands of gallons of Calliornia wines bottled there and sold as foreign importations, foreign labels being pasted on the bottles and foreign brands burned in he corks.

David Henning, "the Michigan apple king," be gan his career as a journeyman cooper. He is the most distinguished man in his line in the world, and frequently buys and distributes as many as 25,000 barrels of apples in a season. His figure is very much like that of the late Vice-President Henlricks, and he has the same sort of features as the Indianian had.

Mr. T. J. Potter, general manager of the Union Pacific Rallway and one of the shrewdest railroad men in the country, is completely broken down in health, and his physician has ordered him to spend the rest of the winter in Florida. Mr. Potter, who distinguished himself while he had the management of the great Burlington system, was a trucknan in the freight-house at Ottumwa, Ia., only

THE ROLL OF MERIT.

A Long List of Names of Bright Scholars.

The Weekly Recognition of the Children's Biligence.

Primary School Pupils Who by Good Deportment and Attention to Study Stand Highest in Their Classes. The Names Change from Week to Week, Showing that the Children Are Moved to Studious

The names of the bright and studious little ones who have by good deportment and attention to study stood highest in their classes in the city primary schools this week are today mentioned once more in THE EVENING WORLD'S ROLL OF MERIT. Their little hearts will doubtless throb with honest pride to see their efforts recognized, and we hope that they will continue their struggle to excel. It is interesting to note that the names change from week to week, showing that an honest rivalry exists among the scholars, and that in their efforts to be first they are laying the foundation for an education that will be of invaluable service to them in their struggle with the world.

Indeed, this studious emulation is so great that in several instances three and four scholars in one class have obtained the maximum number of marks, and have the pleasure of seeing their names standing side by side in the ROLL OF MERIT.

A number of names did not get into last Saturday's edition, owing to their failure to reach THE EVENTSO WORLD office in time. and a number straggled in through the week. They were printed, however, in the issue that followed their receipt. Those names that did not arrive in time for to-day's Evening World will be printed on Monday.

Connell to Run on Exhibition Mile. The members of the Manhattan Athletic Club will gather in force at their athletic meeting at Madison Square Garden this evening. The sp chal feature of the evening will be an exhibition mile run by Thomas Patrick Connift, the Duolin cham-pion. The pace for the first quarter will be set by A. F. Copland, champion hurdler of America. The pace for the other quarters will be set by H. L. Mitchell, B. P. Skiliman and Hardy M. Banks. Conneff will try to beat W. G. George's exhibition mile run at the Garden.

GOT the name of the pocket, as I supposed, I went to the office I entered almost at the same time that Inspector Thorne did. "I have found the druggist who filled the prescription," I said to him.

"That is a very good thing, and quickly done," he answered, " but they have secured the murderers and they have 'squealed.' We have got the whole story from them."

It was true. Capt. McDonnell had captured the light-colored fellow, William Weston. He had something which distinguished him from the other-it was in being blear-eyed. Capt. McDonnell found out where a negro answering to this description lived. He had not shown up, though, since the day of the murder. A white woman, however, named Annie Kane, was associated with Weston. Capt. McDonnell captured him just as he was leaving her

He denied all knowledge of the murder He had on a pair of light-colored trousers. and over them a pair of overalls. They were taken off at the station-house and his trousers were found to be damp, as if they had been washed. When asked to account for this, the negro said he had fallen into stream while he was wandering around in the country up above Harlem. When they examined the trousers blood stains were found on them. He had evidently tried to wash them out recently.

Annie Kane had been brought to the station-house, and had been told that it was better for her to tell all she knew about the murder, because her relations to Weston were known and it might go hard with her. She then told several things, which showed that Weston was in the habit of associating with Weissburg, and that he believed Weiss. burg had $200 or $300, which he carried around on his person.

Weston was the most intelligent of the three, or to speak more correctly, he was the least stupid. About this same time Officer McGowan had arrested two negroes-one of them a big black fellow-on the Boulevard up in the neighborhood of the murder. It is a strange fatality that leads a murderer back to the spot where the crime has been committed.

When they were brought to the stationhouse I remarked that one of them wore a artistic. cheap shirt like those which had been found in the peddler's pack. But these were of a common pattern and material, such as are found in a dozen places on the Bowerv and in downtown clothing stores, so it was not much of a help. When Weston found the two were cap-and ornamentation of which is graceful and artistic.

The interior is handsome and imposing, and the mural decorations are the finest to be seen in any church edifice in this city. The aisless are paved with Italian marble and the great altar is also of the purest marble. The ecclesiastical scenes which fill the panels both in the walls and ceiling are the work of skilled artists, and the statuary which is arranged in the various niches is a prominent feature of the art work of the interior.

The dedication of the new church took place on Dec. 3, 1882, which is the date of the Feast of St. Francis Xavier, and happened in that year to concur with the first Sunday in Advent. Under such circumstances the feast is usually transferred to the following day, but by a special dispensation of Pope tured, and that Annie Kane had said enough to implicate him, he tried to save himself by giving away the others. He said he was with them when they did the murder and got some of the effects. They had been disappointed about the money. The peddler day, but by a special dispensation of Pope Leo the privilege was given of reciting in this case the prayers commemorative of St. Francis Xavier, in the solemnities of the really had $200 or $300, but he did not carry his money about with him. They found $40 on his person and divided that. When William Thompson a

The services were continued throughout the week, the sermons being preached by Fathers of the various religious orders. The Rev. J. J. Murphy, S. J., the present pastor of St. Francis Xavier's, was born in Ireland, and received his education at Maynooth College. He became the pastor of the church three years ago. Weston knew Weissburg. Weston used to travel up through Morrisania a good deal there also. He found out that Weissburg had some money, and thought it would be a good scheme to get him up in some unfrequented part of the neighborhood, crack him on the head and get the money. He proposed this to Thompson and Ellis Thompson was the big fellow. They agreed to meet Weston in Morrisania, and if the peddler showed up to fix him. They found him eating his crackers and cheese, and com-

He fell to the ground, stunned and bleed-"My God!" he cried out, in a pitiful oice, " what are you going to do-kill me?" He was hit again, and exclaimed: "God save me!" as he was stretched along the ground. Weston then seized the large rock and hurled it down with a l his might on the victim's head. It crushed his skull to pieces. > Every One May See the Shadow on the Face of the Moon If it is Not Cloudy-Excep-tional Interest Taken in the Event by Astronomers-Points to be Settled Observation-Show Begins at 4.31 P.M.

It is not in the least surprising to learn that the gentleman who so long has held possession of the moon, and gazed provoks ingly down upon less fortunate office-holders. in all kinds of weather, will vanish this even. ing for about an hour and a half. Scientific people say that the man in the moon will temporarily succumb to an eclipse, but this will not shake the conviction in the minds of many that he has been frozen out, and that he will devote this hour and a half vacation to the exhilarating pastime of getting warm

As there are always people in the world who will meanly take advantage of a man during his absence, it follows that great preparations have been made for this evening. The Harvard Observatory is determined to add to its knowledge of eclipses, and the Russian Observatory at Pulkowa is particularly desirous of ascertaining the exact position of the moon. It is hoped that this question will be definitely settled this evening.

But the spirit which prompts these learned bodies to step in during the moon's absence and almost steal the information cannot be sufficiently condemned. There is no evidence to show that the man in the moon is not a gentleman, refined and cultivated, and perfectly willing to be interviewed as to his position. As there are always people in the world vious effort of this society to found a church in Elizabeth street in 1841 had proved unsuccessful, ithe building having been destroyed by fire the same year.

The corner-stone of the first church in West Sixteenth street was laid Sept. 24, 1850, by Bishop Lynch, of Charleston, and it was dedicated by Bishop Hughes July 6, 1851.

The eclipse this evening is said to be one of more than ordinary interest. The moon will be more completely out of sight than usual, and will remain so for a longer period of time. Total eclipses as a rule do not last long, and there is very little opportunity for doing good astronomical work upon them. So that this is a rare occasion.

The delicacy which has prompted the gentleman in the moon to retire at such a respectable hour as 5.30 r. m. cannot be sufficiently appreciated, There is no need to sit up all night or rise at an indecently early hour in the morning in order to be an observer.

The eclipse will be visible to everybody here, which is a good thing to know, or there might be a general exodus to the Harvard Observatory or to Pulkowa, Russia. If the atmosphere be entirely free from clouds it will act as a refracting lens and throw light upon the immersed moon, which will thus look like a copper-colored disk.

The moon will rise eclipsed in these regions at 4.31 and will reach what is known as its total phase at 5.31. The middle of the eclipse will be reached at 6.20 p. M., total phase will end at 7.09 p. M., and the old gentleman will be himself again at 8.10 p. M.

Photographic observations of the moon's spectrum will be made, and its light will be measured during its transitions from the time it is fully displayed to the moment when it is totally immersed.

Altogether the eclipse this evening is an important event. It has not been "boomed" by advance agents or billed about the city as an attraction, but it is a spectacle that every-
